The journey to success

SAVE THE DATE

THURSDAY 11 MAY 2023

ROYAL LANCASTER HOTEL, LONDON

6:45pm UNTIL LATE, BLACK TIE

UNITING THE GIFT INDUSTRY

Max Publishing in partnership with the Giftware Association.

Marking a significant unified step forward for the UK gift industry, the GA's Gift of the Year (GOTY) awards and The Greats gift retailer awards are to once again join forces, with the winners of both awards programmes to be announced at a shared lavish black tie evening event.

The two award programmes will see both gift product excellence and retail prowess recognised and rewarded at an awards event to make the whole industry proud, attended by hundreds of gift suppliers and retailers.

The ownership and running of the Gift of the Year product awards, now in their 46th year, will remain under the stewardship of the Giftware Association while The Greats gift retailer awards, now in their 21st year, will continue to be wholly owned and run by Max Publishing (publishers of Progressive Gifts & Home magazine and giftsandhome.net).

Both parties will work closely together to create an enjoyable and uplifting evening event that will truly celebrate the industry's achievements, both on the product and retailing fronts.

UNITING THE GIFT INDUSTRY

Max Publishing in partnership with the Giftware Association.

Marking a significant unified step forward for the UK gift industry, the GA's Gift of the Year (GOTY) awards and The Greats gift retailer awards are to once again join forces, with the winners of both awards programmes to be announced at a shared lavish black tie evening event.

The two award programmes will see both gift product excellence and retail prowess recognised and rewarded at an awards event to make the whole industry proud, attended by hundreds of gift suppliers and retailers.

The ownership and running of the Gift of the Year product awards, now in their 46th year, will remain under the stewardship of the Giftware Association while The Greats gift retailer awards, now in their 21st year, will continue to be wholly owned and run by Max Publishing (publishers of Progressive Gifts & Home magazine and giftsandhome.net).

Both parties will work closely together to create an enjoyable and uplifting evening event that will truly celebrate the industry's achievements, both on the product and retailing fronts.
